The following represents a listing of concrete and tile sealers, which claim to be penetrating and water, grease and acid resistant. As we become aware of additional sealers, which are water, grease, and acid resistant, they will be added to this list. Sealers which are currently included may be removed from the list if it is determined they no longer meet the established standards. It is important that all sealers listed are allowed to cure before food is stored or processed to prevent contamination of food by the emitted vapors.

Please note that sealers may need to be reapplied every six (6) months to remain effective.
